

Anne and Thomas Quaife.

South Western Times group editor and SWAS board member Wayne Vitali with wife Sandra.

Christine and Bradley Linfield.

Domenic Crouch and Nicole Crisp.

Ray and Joy Frisina.

Guest speaker Alan Black, Ros and Paul Omodei and Minister for Sport and Recreation Terry Waldron.

Dylan Ness and Jamie Williamson.

Warren Grieve and Derrick Richardson.

Darril and Adele Schultz.

THE South West Academy of Sport's most outstanding athletes were honoured at a gala awards dinner in Bunbury on Friday night.

During the event at the All Seasons Sanctuary Golf Resort, awards were presented to the Academy's top athletes, including Cory Richardson who was named the 2010 SWAS Sports Star of the Year.

It was the academy's second annual awards dinner, attracting a number of special guests including Sport and Recreation Minister Terry Waldron.

The event was sponsored by Telstra Country Wide, Cr Derek Spencer, FHE Field Hockey Equipment, WA Country Builders, WA Football Commission, RCR, Department of Sport and Recreation, Rolf Stene AM, Lomax Media and Totally Sound.

■ Got an exciting social event coming up? To have your event placed on the list for consideration in the social pages, email the details to haydn.tuia@swtimes.com.au or phone 9780 0877.

Outstanding young athletes recognised

SWAS board member Cliff Anderson and wife Di.

Christine Jorgensen and Kim McCartney.

City of Bunbury councillor Helen Punch and husband Don.

SWAS chief executive Bernice Butlion with husband Gary.

Darren Richardson and son Cory, who was named the 2010 SWAS Sports Star of the Year, with James Fitch.

Basketball South West chairman Steve Hawkins, and wife Kathy.

Ingrid, Helen and Augusta-Margaret River shire president Ray Colyer.