

Baldock home on local waves

YOUNG surfer Matt Baldock is flying high on his home waves in-between his schedule on the Australasian Pro-Junior tour where he is currently holding down the lead spot for the West Australian competitors.

In the overall rankings he is within the top 30 of the best current surfers from Australia and internationally.

While at home this year Baldock is chasing part-time studies at ECU from this week and a training programs funded by a scholarship from South West Academy of Sport.