

Tee up an office team for a fun day on the fairway

THERE is still time to get a team of four golf players together to be part of this year's South West Academy of Sports Corporate Golf Day at the All Seasons Sanctuary Golf Resort on September 1.

The event will tee off at 11.30am with registration and a light lunch and wrap up with a barbecue dinner and presentation of prizes. SWAS chief executive officer Bernice Butlion said the inaugural golf day last year was a success, with people from businesses and organisations enjoying the opportunity to get out of the office and network on the green.

"Your participation in this fun day not only provides an opportunity to network with your business associates or treat employees to a fun-filled afternoon, it's also a chance to help promising young people in the South West pursue a career in sport," she said.

"Funds raised from the day will assist the academy to continue providing its high performance programs to aspiring athletes throughout the region.

"Your participation will help us help athletes to reach their potential."

Registrations close this Thursday, August 18. To register a team email SWAS on info@swaswa.com.au or phone 9795 4504.

South West Academy chief executive officer Bernice Butlion and SWAS board member Cliff Anderson look forward to the golf day.
