

Sharon

Buchanan

John

David

Dickson

Quiz will boost elite sporting programs

THE South West Academy of Sport is no stranger to competition and next month SWAS will once again be asking people to flex their muscles — only this time it will be the cerebral muscles getting a workout.

People are invited to put on their thinking caps and help raise funds for SWAS by taking part in a quiz and auction night.

To be held at 7pm on Friday April 8 at the South West Italian Club in Bunbury, the event will raise funds for the academy's high performance programs.

SWAS chief executive officer Bernice Butlion said the quiz would have a general knowledge theme with plenty of prizes.

"As well as taking part in the quiz, participants will also be able to bid for a range of collectable items including signed sports memorabilia during an auction," she said.

"Items to be auctioned on the night include a signed Kookaburras guernsey."

"While we are generously supported by a number of sponsors including the South Western Times, funds raised from the quiz night will help to strengthen our high performance and scholarship programs even further.

"This will help even more talented athletes to achieve their dreams and put the South West on the State, national and world sporting stages in the process."

To register contact SWAS by April 1 on 9795 4504 or email info@swas-wa.com.au. Tickets are $10 per person, with tables of 10 available.

South Western Times sports editor Riley Stuart and SWAS chief executive officer Bernice Butlion show off the Kookaburras guernsey that will be auctioned. PICTURE: JON GELLWEILER