

A MOMENT TO SHINE

Hockey rising star Jamie Williamson got Olympic training at the South West Academy of Sport last week. The Busselton hockey athlete took part in a training session with Neil Hawgood, who has represented Australia at the Olympic Games as an athlete and a coach. The WA Institute of Sport coach took charge of training last Thursday night, running the promising young hockey players through a series of high performance drills at the Bunbury Hockey Stadium. The special training session was organised by SWAS head coach Matt Mellor.
