

Jenny and Rowan Brown, of Australind.

Debbie and Kevin Shaw, of Bunbury.

Hayley, Jonenne, Lauren and Geoff Reynolds, all from Clifton Park.

BMX star Reynolds rides high to win inaugural award

Helen Docker, Gayle Whyatt and Michelle Willsher, all of Bunbury.

ABOUT 180 guests, including Olympic hockey player Kobie McGurk and Sport and Recreation Minister Terry Waldron, were on hand to see some of the region's best athletes recognised at the South West Academy of Sport's awards night on Friday.

BMX star Lauren Reynolds capped off an outstanding year on the track by winning the major prize at the inaugural awards at the All Seasons Sanctuary Golf Resort.

The exciting Clifton Park talent was named the winner of the SWAS 2009 Sports Star of the Year Award and was among a host of rising sporting talent to be recognised on the night.

■ Got an exciting social event coming up and want to see your photos in the South Western Times? To have your event placed on the list for consideration in the social pages, email the details to editor@swtimes.com.au or call our news desk on 9780 0863.

Billy and Susan Golder with Cristal Global representative Carl House.

Graeme Docker, Julie Wade and Troy Jones, all from Bunbury.

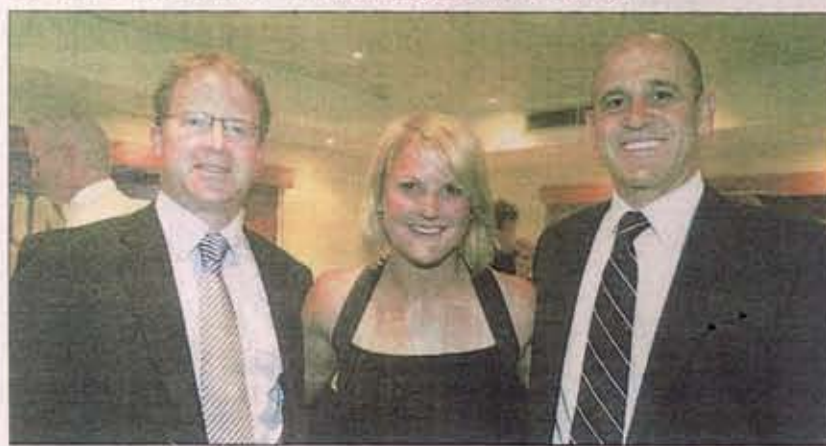

Jess Cameron, Corey Richardson, Dena English and James Goodlad.

Jamie and Liz Goodlad with Darren Richardson, all of Bunbury.

Steve and Kathy Hawkins with Mark English, all of Bunbury.

Michelle Kenna, of Bunbury, guest speaker Kobie McGurk and WA Institute of Sport