

AWESOME FOURSOME

South West Taekwondo Academy athletes Sian Guerin, let, Brandon and Benjamin Harvey, and Amy Fortescue all won gold at the recent national championships.

FOUR Bunbury Taekwondo athletes competed in the recent national championships, and all four won gold.

Under-14 competitors Ben Harvey and Brandon Harvey, and open competitors Amy Fortescue and Sian Guerrin impressed the judges and fought their way to gold at championships in Brisbane.

All four are members of the South

West Taekwondo Academy.

Head coach Geoff Kelly said the foursome had achieved something special.

"It was a tough championship, with a team from Malaysia also taking part, so they've done very well," he said.

"Sian and Amy are still under-20 years old, and they were fighting against adults which was impressive."

Both Guerrin and Fortescue have now qualified for a host of international championships for 2010 including the German, Belgium and Holland Opens.

Fortescue is already a South West Academy Of Sport scholarship holder.
